

DJ Toxic: A stunning comeback after four years

Zurich, June 2011. There weren't any news about the Zurich-based DJ Toxic for a long time. He was busy with his studies to become an audio engineer. But now, he's giving his astonishing comeback by publishing his fourth album « Dance4Colors » and by performing live at the Street Parade on August 13.

DJ Toxic is back and he makes this summer sweeter for his fans. He has produced the album „Dance4Colors“ especially for the hot season. And he has composed himself all the songs of the album.

„Dance4Colors' is a development of my music“, he explains. « I wanted to make something new and develop my trance style to a style that contains more pop music. I wanted to make an album that reflects the colors of the summer. » DJ Toxic has enlarged his musical variety by house, pop and dance songs. And he accomplished his mission perfectly : His songs express the zest for life.

During four years, there weren't any news about DJ Toxic, who is 28 years old. But now, he's back with an astonishing album. While being absent in the media, DJ Toxic hasn't been lazy, but finished his studies as an audio engineer. The music has always been his life. DJ Toxic plays several instruments, especially the guitar. That's why he's not only a DJ, but he works also as a producer, a composer and a musician.

The CD « Warm-up » of the Street Parade also contains a track by DJ Toxic. And during the Street Parade, DJ Toxic will spin the records.

Biography of DJ Toxic

Eight years ago, Philipp Braccani alias DJ Toxic published « Secret Melody », a song that was Number One in the dance charts of Switzerland. The following songs also had a lot of success. „Sunlight“ and a little later „It's killing me“ reached the top of the dance charts as well. In 2004, DJ Toxic received the „VIVA-Komet“-prize as „Best Newcomer National“.

With label Free Power Media (with Predi Vukovic), DJ Toxic stayed on the road of success : his album „Anastasia“ was one of the first trance albums ever with songs that the DJ had composed himself. The following albums „Echoes of Nature“ and „Home“ were very successful. Apart from that, DJ Toxic presented the show on Kanal K. During his studies, DJ Toxic produced tracks for different projects and artists, for example for the rock group Jerx. In 2010, he was responsible for the official trance compilation of the Street Parade and launched his hit « Secret Melody » again.
